Jesus teaches us to have a proper disposition to temporal wealth. We must not seek from wealth a happiness it is not able to provide, nor make use of it for illicit gain—like those who cannot wait for a chance to “buy the lowly for silver and the poor for a pair of sandals.” Perhaps the first time those merchants “fixed their scales for cheating” it seemed to them a very small matter. But “the person who is dishonest in very small matters is also dishonest in great ones.” Fortunately, the one Master, Jesus Christ, “gave himself as ransom for all.” With hands lifted up in holy prayer, we become those trustworthy people to whom God entrusts great things. By using wealth properly, as a means for the necessary goods of life and for works of charity, we act as prudent stewards and prepare for an eternal dwelling.

Healing Mission

With Paul Rymniak
Monday & Tuesday—September 22nd-23rd
at St. Stanislaus Catholic Church, Chappell Hill
Both evenings will begin at 7:00 pm.
The Sacrament of Confession will be available during the Mission.

Healing is NOT just for the physically impaired. Mental and emotional stresses and strains can take a heavier toll on our lives, even more than the worst of diseases. So if you or your family are in need of Healing in these areas, come and experience the Lord, and what he can do for you.

YOU CANNOT SERVE BOTH GOD & MONEY.

Grandma gave you $10 to buy her a soda at the church craft show. After you do, you notice you have enough money leftover to buy a cool toy you saw. Do you bring the change back to grandma, or do you use the money to buy the toy before you go back to her?

You're at the arcade and you find a wallet with $30 in it, but there's nothing in it that says the name of the owner. Do you put the $30 in your pocket and leave the wallet where it is, or do you turn the wallet into the lost-and-found?

Honesty is shown by both what we say and what we do. We always have a choice—like we did in our activity—to be honest about what we say and do. And when we're honest with small, easy things, then Jesus says we can be trusted with bigger and harder choices.

Jesus told a story about a rich man who had a manager working for him who was dishonest. The rich man asked his manager to explain how he'd been using the rich man's money, and sure enough, he had been taking some of the money for himself and cheating his employer.

What do you think happened, and why? Explain whether you would trust the worker if you were his boss.

The manager was fired, but before he was, he made up a plan to make some friends who could help him when he was out of work. He went to all the people who owed his employer. He found out how much they each owed, and said they could pay a much smaller amount, if they paid now. These people were happy to pay a fraction of what they owed, and the manager became their friend since he gave them a discount.

After Jesus told this parable, he said to his disciples, "Whoever can be trusted with very little can also be trusted with much, and whoever is dishonest with very little will also be dishonest with much." If people know that they can trust us in small things, they will know that they can trust us in the big things too (Luke 16:1-13).

God, help us to remember what Jesus taught about honesty--and help us to be honest in every situation --big or small. In Jesus' name, amen.

The chief and most excellent rule for the right use of money is one which the heathen philosophers hinted at, but which the Church has traced out clearly, and has not only made known to men's minds, but has impressed upon their lives. It rests on the principle that it is one thing to have a right to the possession of money and another to have a right to use money as one wills.

Pope Leo XIII: Rerum Novarum (May 15, 1891).

Thank you to the following who were inadvertently left off the Donor's List, and who donated items for the Bazaar Kid-Zone: Cathryn Dunlap, Olivia Korpe, and Amanda Jatzlau. Thank you!

This Week's Message:

"A theory that makes profit the exclusive norm and ultimate end of economic activity is morally unacceptable. The disordered desire for money cannot but produce perverse effects. It is one of the causes of the many conflicts which disturb the social order. " Gaudium et Spes

"A system that 'subordinates the basic rights of individuals and of groups to the collective organization of production' is contrary to human dignity. Every practice that reduces persons to nothing more than a means of profit enslaves man, leads to idolizing money, and contributes to the spread of atheism. 'You cannot serve God and mammon.'"
